Leading a Non-Profit Board

Non-profit organizations play a critical role in the economy of the Commonwealth. From healthcare to social services, education and the arts they are part of the fabric of the quality of our life - often providing the link between the public and private sectors that enable successful collaboration. Serving as the director of a non-profit can be a very fulfilling experience providing the opportunity to combine one's expertise with a passion for the mission of the institution. The governance of non-profits has increasingly evolved to the levels of sophistication and complexity similar to those at public companies. Our panel will discuss issues facing non-profits and their boards today - from the selection and recruitment of board members to the expectations of the role boards play in such areas as strategy and fundraising. We expect a lively and timely discussion. An important dimension will be representation from the Attorney General's office.

Our Panelists:

Courtney Aladro - Chief of the Non-Profit Organizations/Public Charities Div. of the MA Office of the AG
Andrew Dreyfus - CEO and President of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of MA
Grace K. Fey, CFA - President of Grace Fey Advisors
Michael Eisenson, Moderator - Co-Chairman of Charlesbank Capital Partners
